DEATH'S DOLEFUL DIRGE

BORNE ON THE SUMMER BREEZE THROUGHOUT THE LAND.

General Response to the Wall of Woe—Latest Incidents of the Flood.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

JOHNSON (Pa.), June 5th.—The gray mists had scarcely risen from the hills this morning when

THOUSAND FUNERALS

Were coursing their green sides. There were no hearse, few mourners and as little solemnity as formality. Instead of six pall-bearers to one coffin, there were generally six coffins to one team. No minister of God was there to pronounce blessings as the clouds rattled down, except a few fatigued priests, who had followed some management representative of their faith to their graves.

A fact that heretofore has been overlooked in the awful strain is the solid compact of the corps, fully one-third of those rescued having been so mangled, bruised and parished that identification was impossible.

All day long corpses were being buried below ground.

UNIDENTIFIED BODIES

Were grouped on the high hill west of the town, where one epitaph must do for all, it being consisting of the solitary word, "Unknown."

There are hundreds of these graves already, and each day will increase the number. The possibility of identification is nil.

Although the funerals of the morning had the morgues of their crush, before night they were as full of the dead as ever.

The magnitude of the devastation wrought by the Conemaugh flood is becoming more and more apparent with every effort of the laborers to resolve

ORDER OUT OF CHAOS.

Over a hundred men have been all day engaged in the effort to clear the narrow passage from the death bridge upward through the debris that blocks the Conemaugh for nearly a half a mile. Every vestige of the houses swept away can be seen. The number of persons known to have been drowned is sixteen.

THE GIANT POWER OF DYNAMITE

Has been brought into requisition, and at frequent intervals the roar of the exploding charges reverberates over the valley, and stones and logs would fly high into the air.

Although a few of the heaviest timbers were demolished, and fragments were permitted to float downward through the center of the bridge, it did not cover an area of sixty feet in length and forty feet in width. When one reflects that twenty-five acres are to be cleared in this way, the task ahead seems an interminable one.

BUT THERE IS NO ROYAL ROAD, AND IT HURTS.

Thousands of bodies beneath the blackened rivers are to be recovered for Christian burial, the labor of to-day must be continued with increased vigor.

Labor and Manufacturing of nearly every kind

Beneath the blackened rivers are to be recovered for Christian burial, the labor of to-day must be continued with increased vigor.

THE NEW JOHNSTOWN.

White Tents Where Stand Hundreds of Happy Homes.

JOHNSTOWN, June 5th.—Notwithstanding the fact nearly every prominent city in the United States is raising funds for the relief of the Conemaugh sufferers, the wants of the homeless and afflicted are far greater than those of the wealthy.

The Governor of Pennsylvania has appointed a committee to float a bond issue of $100,000 to be used for the relief of the Conemaugh.

THE HORRIBLE HARVEST OF Gloom Gleaners.

JOHNSTOWN, June 5th.—This afternoon fifty bodies were taken from the debris from the Catholic church in Johnstown.

At the First Presbyterian Church, which is being used as a morgue, there are seventeen bodies which were taken from the debris of the river.

At the First Methodist church, which is being used as a morgue, there are twenty-four bodies which were taken from the debris of the First Presbyterian.

Will abandon the diminished hope of again gazing upon the forms of their loved ones, whose lives went out in the fire and flood of the Conemaugh.

The pleadings of the sanitarians and the logic of the engineers are failing to move the public to the point of giving and alms.

The progress of to-day is hardly discernible, and two more days may elapse before the debris of the bridge is cleared.

But there is no royal road, and if humans

THE RELIEF FUND—INCREASE IT.

The relief fund of the citizens of Sacramento, in aid of the sufferers in Pennsylvania, has grown by the unsolicited offerings of the people to a very respectable size. We have had the satisfaction also of knowing that the money has been applied about as fast as it was placed upon the RECORD-UNION counter. Unless the story of the great disaster has been vastly and cruelly magnified, there is by no means sufficient as yet raised.

When the dead are all buried, the distress of the starving relieved, the naked clothed, and the orphans provided with homes, there will remain greater work to do—or at least one great, one demanding a vast sum of money and business wisdom of a high order. That is, the homeless must be provided for, given a new start in life, so far as shelter and comfort are concerned; that is, in part at least, put upon their feet again; but, of course, not given business capital. Certainly the American will not consider his duty done when temporary distress is relieved. How are these people to begin home-life anew? Shall we not as well give them money to erect humble roofs to shelter their wives and children? Shall we not partly fill the larder and put rite comfort into the closet until these stricken men are again of revived industry to become wage-earners again? Shall we cease in the doing of good with the giving of a loaf and the tossing of a blanket to the sufferers? Surely not. If we are to help these people truly, we must hold them up awhile until their ability to help themselves is somewhat restored.

Governor Ross recently made a speech at Fort Worth in which he outlined the wonderful progress made by Texas since the war. The oration clearly discloses that the cause of the progress of which Texans are so proud was the acceptance by them of the conclusions of the war and the bending of the energies of the people to the development of the resources of the country. There has been the minimum of attention paid to the politics of the section and the fears of social inequality and domination, and the maximum of industry devoted to inviting desirable immigrants and money investments. That alone is the secret of the great success of Texas.

The SAN FRANCISCO Alta says "the pupil is becoming a misnomer." We concur.

There should be a regulation preventing in the public schools any competitive contests that stimulate in one direction and discourage in another.

The cause of education is best conserving by non-publicity at least, of the peculiar character of this or that pupil.

Certainly the public schools should not be used for the free advertising of a newspaper, as is now the case in San Francisco.

THE President's speech at the Washington mass meeting to provide relief for the Pennsylvania sufferers, was a deliverance full of human sympathy and generous feeling. The expression, "It is in such fires as these that the brotherhood of man is welded," is rich in suggestion.

Not less beautiful was his sentence, "When such a calamitous visitation visits this country, we can do no more than put about the dark picture the golden border of love and charity."

There is a conflict of authority in the Sharon-Hill case. The Superior Court of San Francisco insists upon its jurisdiction and threatens to appoint a receiver. As we understand the law, the Court first gaining jurisdiction retains it. In the case named the action that determines the real issues was commenced in the Federal Court some weeks in advance of the proceeding in the State Court.

THE DISSENTING OPINION.

The stress of necessity demonstrated at Johnstown that cremation even in its rudest form, is preferable to burial, and that it is the one and only sensible and sanitary means of disposing of the dead, so as the least to afflict the living.

In the great disaster in Pennsylvania there is some compensation—it has demonstrated how close are the sympathies of our people, and has drawn all of the nation nearer together in the bonds of fellowship.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The Fort Bragg Advocate made its name of a new paper which made its first appearance at Fort Bragg, Mendocino county, California, on the 20th ult. Hesser & Buckham are proprietors and Charles J. Egan is editor. The Advocate is filled with good reading matter, is neat in appearance and ought to receive a liberal support.

Immigration into the United States is decreasing. In April, 1889, it was 22 per cent. less than in April, 1888; for ten months ending April 30th, it was 14 per cent. less than the corresponding period in 1887-88. The United States can stand the decrease if Europe can.

South America is largely importing wheat from Europe. How long shall the superiority of European steamship service justify this rebuke to the United States?

The San Francisco Bulletin refers to the apparent falling off in the number of census children in Sacramento, and asks if, indeed, we have been preying upon the State fund in the past. The Bulletin has these many years been opposed to the system of apportioning the school funds. If it could have had its way, it would long since have made every county and district stand alone in this matter. It has always refused to see the wisdom, the justice and the foresightedness of the system that makes the educational scheme one for the whole State, irrespective of the wealth or poverty, the sparsity or the plenitude of population in any district. Naturally, therefore, we read between the lines of the Bulletin's in-

HYDRAULICKING.

PERSONS MAY SELL WATER FOR THAT PURPOSE.

So Says the Supreme Court—A Dissenting Opinion Filed by Chief Justice BEATTY.

The Supreme Court has decided, in the case of the county of Yuba vs. Thomas Cloke, that it is not unlawful for a person owning or controlling a water privilege to sell water to other persons for use in operating hydraulic mines. In the case referred to the plaintiff sought to restrain defendant from selling water to be used in hydraulic mining, and obtained a temporary injunction. Defendant attempted to have the injunction dissolved, his motion was refused, and he appealed to the Supreme Court. The opinion of the latter was written by Justice Works, and Justices McFarland, Thornton, Patterson and Sharpenstein concur. Chief Justice Beatty dissenting. The position of the Court (and of the dissenting Chief Justice) could be very briefly stated, but as the decision affects a large district, the following full extracts are given in the interest of many persons who are interested in the matter. After quoting the complaint in the case, the Court proceeds:

The prayer of the complainant is, in substance, that the defendant be enjoined and restrained from furnishing or selling to persons, companies, or corporations, or any or either of them, water to be used by the hydraulic mining process, or by any hydraulic mining process by which they can be taken from the Bear River, or any of its forks or tributaries, any tailings, cobbles, gravel, etc.

The defendant admitted, admitting his responsibility and the ownership and control of the water, but denied, so far as his knowledge extended, that the water was used for hydraulic mining, or for any other unlawful purpose.

The complainant presents the following facts: The plaintiff is engaged in the hydraulic mining business, and has a mine grant, $1,000.

WHAT IS WANTED.

There is needed, therefore, $302 52 voluntary contributions before 2:30 P. M. to-day, the time for the final distribution of the sum sent forward by telegraphic exchange this afternoon. The sum thus far contributed, while handsome, is not five cents per capita for our population, and it is therefore concluded that the public will be asked to contribute more. It is the hope of the people who are able to contribute lesser sums, while a few remain who will certainly send in quarter and half eagles and whole eagles.

THE NEED IS GREAT.

We trust to Governor Beaver, and the rest of the committee to notify the people that such a sum has been received. Our brethren who have been so terribly afflicted, numbering over 30,000 people, are to be helped not only to food and clothing and shelter temporarily, but also to permanent homes that will be recovered and buried; when the orphans are cared for and the sick placed under proper care, there must be provision made to enable the people to earn their bread.

It is the hope of the people who are able to contribute more. It is the hope of the people who are able to contribute less, while a few remain who will certainly send in quarter and half eagles and whole eagles.

COOL AND DELIGHTFUL.

The highest and lowest Signal Service temperature yesterday, says Sergeant Baldwin, were 78° and 56°, with fresh to brisk southerly winds and steady barometer and cloudlessness until the late day, when clouds came up. The highest 78° was at 8:30 A. M., the lowest 56° at 4 P. M.

The highest and lowest temperature for the year thus far have been in amounts from $10 to $100 each. There are, therefore, hundred of people who are able to contribute less, while a few remain who are able to contribute lesser sums, while a few remain who will certainly send in quarter and half eagles and whole eagles.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors resumed their session yesterday. Present, Tibbets (Chairman), and the Board of Ross. The Board spent most of the day in investigating claims against the county.

In the late day Supervisor Ross moved that the order of publication of the semi-annual report of the County Auditor be omitted to include advertising in the Record-Union.

Supervisor Greer offered to amend by including the Record-Union. Lost.

The roll was called, and the motion was carried unanimously.

Carroll was absent.

RECELLS AT 10 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING.

NEWLY INCORPORATED.

The following articles of incorporation were filed in the Secretary of State's office yesterday:

Newport Wharf and Lumber Company, Capital stock $100,000. Directors—James McFadden, W. H. Spurgeson, Thomas H. Thompson and Alex Casey.

Gladwin Manufacturing Company of San Francisco, for the purpose of manufacturing type-writers. Capital stock $75,000. Directors—F. E. Gladwin, J. N. Harrison, J. H. Harrison, Thomas B. Robinson and Thomas M. Gardner.

ON THE RAMPAGE.

A little before 6 o'clock last evening a black man, generally known about the city as "Malusk," assaulted a Chinaman on K street, between Eighth and Ninth, and the celestial struck out and stoned his assailant. Officer Stanford I stoned the scoundrel, and a neighbor who had come to the house to see what was going on, also stoned him. He was taken to the hospital, where he died.

Director Davis thought differently, and suggested that the building be kept for some time yet, as it is a good location, and would command a high rent.

The roll was called, as whether the building should be sold, and all voted that the building should be sold, and all voted excepting Davis.

As the Board would have to be unanimous in a question of this kind, there will be nothing further done in the matter at present.

NEED SIDEWALKS.

Director Chapman replied that he (Malusk) had better take the contract, and see how he would come out.

Upon a vote, Mr. Chapman was given power to enter into a contract as reasonable a rate as he could. Martin said he could get the same thing done at $100 a month.

It is understood that private citizens are to present the flags which will ornament the stands, and they will be ready to be displayed on July 4th.

SPRING RACES.

II. SACRAMENTO. What Then, She Must Begin to Stir Herself.

So little has been heard of late on the subject of the proposed inauguration of spring racing meetings in this city, under the management of the State Agricultural Society, that many persons have arrived at the belief that the master had been allowed to die an unnatural death—throttled as it were, by the indifference and short-sightedness of the Sacramento public. Happily, however, this is not the case. Secretary Smith and the Directors of the society have at no time wholly despaired of having the race meetings this year, and have, in fact, the entire confidence of this entire community.

ROBBERIES KILL TWO MEN AND DIE FOR THEIR DEED.

Benefits for Johnstown Sufferers—Idaho Mine Still Burning—The Choyinski-Corbett Fight.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

THE BURNED IDAHO MINE.

Fire Still Burning in the Resolute Cave of Death.

GRASS VALLEY, June 5th.—This morning a reporter went into the Idaho mine shaft with a rescuing party. At 7:30 the bulkhead below eight hundred feet was knocked out in the sixth round. The fight was for a purse of $250. The men entered the ring at 135 pounds. The battle was the fiercest ever seen in the cage. Within thirty feet of the nine hundred-foot level, and had to be hoisted back in haste, as the smoke and gas began to pour out of the mine shafts. The lights were extinguished by the gas, and the men were in great danger. Opening the mine was to have started the fire afresh, so the mine was opened immediately. There is no possible chance for anything breathing to live in the Idaho mine for one minute, and all hopes of rescue Dunstan and Ralph have been abandoned.

THE LATEST PARTICULARS.

GRASS VALLEY, June 5th.—This morning at the Idaho mine chief engineer Thomas Dunstan and engineers Richard Dunstan and John Peck were down at 8:30 A.M., resuscitating a man consisting of foreman John Carter, shift bosses Richard Curtis, Joe Andrews and William R. Thomas, and Joseph Roane Alfred Argall, Richard Eva Williams, Bowden Captain, James John Morris, Josephine Captain, John Williams and John Oliver went to the bulkhead in the main shaft, below Alton's Room, and removed the bulkhead. At 8:45 a report came that the lighted bulkhead was lowered to a point half-way between the 900-level and the 1,000-level. The cage was stopped at the point for a minute or so and then dropped back to the 800-level, where the men were still alive. They were found in the cage, the lights burned at the lowest point reached by the cage.

Immediately William Curtis, Alfred Argall, and Captain Jack Williams went up to within three feet of the 900-foot level of the cage, and they had to immediately ring back, as the smoke and gas were pouring out of the 900-foot level. Their lights were put out in great danger.

After this, foremen Captain Curtis and Captain and Captain Jack Williams came up on top and had a hurried conversation with the chief engineer Dunstan, and it was concluded that the cage was selected at the death of his brother, Wm. H. Lawrence.

The smoke pouring out of the 900-foot level into the main shaft had started up the fire afresh this morning.

Captain Jackson, who was among the rescued and whose name was not stated in the presence of the telegraph reporter, that he knew exactly where to place their hands on Thomas Dunstan and John Carter, two of the men who were present. The smoke and gas are now much worse in the mine than when the last rescue party was driven out at 2 o'clock this morning.

It is the intention to fill the mine with carbonic acid gas, which will be developed in the main shaft. To do this a tank is to be placed on a platform that is in the mine, and the carbonic acid will be released, whereupon the tank will be placed and then sulphuric acid will be mixed in with the lime.

The carbonic acid gas of the lime is released or set free by the action of the lime on water. The materials will be placed in to give out enough to fill the mine. When the materials are put in the tank those who put it in will get out in a big hurry.

The mine will be closed up, the new gas has done its work. The plan is now being carried out, and the tank has been sent down into the mine. The Messrs. Clegg and Son, who are electrical engineers from San Francisco, and they are here in the morning. They will come with submarine arms, and go into the mine and stop to stop the flames.
